Dear Association of Hungarian Librarians,

Visiting your beautiful country and the architectural crown jewel of Budapest has been an extraordinary experience. The opportunity to meet and speak with colleagues from your country is truly a great honor. We share a global commitment to learning, knowledge and the joy of reading.

During my time with you, I have been impressed by your dedication to creating libraries that are responsive to the needs of 21st century users.

I thank Klára Bakos and the Association of Hungarian Librarians for your generosity and kindness.

With warmest regards,

Roberta Stevens
